Co-op in the Community

Concern for Community is one of the seven guiding principles of the cooperative way of doing business. That's why we enjoy getting out into our communities - whether it's teaching electrical safety or strumming the banjo! Below are pictures from the recent Career Day at the Southwick Elementary School in Northfield.

“Co-op Power” Seasonal Energy Price Increase in May

The price for the energy portion of our members' bills, "Co-op Power," saw its usual summer period increase beginning with bills issued in May. As a result, the average member using 500 kWh per month will see their bill increase approximately 3.2% to $73.01 from $70.77. The impact on individual bills depends on your rate class and electricity usage.

This increase, however, represents a rate that is approximately 3% lower than the seasonal rate for the summer of 2004.

Since 2000, the Co-op has purchased most of its Co-op Power through competitive bidding from wholesale market participants. Our present Co-op Power pricing reflects wholesale market conditions in early 2002 when NHEC negotiated a contract for most of our energy needs for the years 2003 through 2006. Increases in both demand and prices for the fuels that are used to make electricity in New England, primarily natural gas and various grades of oil have increased prices for electricity for those utilities who do not have longer term contracts negotiated before the upsurge. Prices today for electricity to be delivered in the future - in the period beyond the end of NHEC's main contract - are substantially higher than NHEC's current contract prices. Those "forward prices" also are showing a seasonal shift. Summer prices were previously much higher than winter. With more dependence on natural gas for both electricity production and space heating, however, winter prices have been rising faster than summer prices, narrowing the price differences.

NHEC's board and management continue to monitor the wholesale electricity markets for ways to manage energy costs and our Co-op Power prices to our members in anticipation of the end of our current contract arrangements.
